

Dealing Effectively with Power and Control Problems

“DEALING WITH DISCIPLINE PROBLEMS”

3 Semester Hours of Graduate Credit

See solutions to real-life discipline problems.

This course presents a new, seven-step approach to classroom discipline that will greatly increase your effectiveness in helping difficult students manage their own behavior. This course provides easy-to-understand, practical guidelines that can be applied to any classroom, at any grade level.

IN THIS COURSE, YOU WILL LEARN HOW TO DEAL EFFECTIVELY WITH STUDENTS WHO:

-  refuse to do their class work.
-  continually present excuses for their behavior.
-  cheat on tests or assignments.
-  argue and talk back to you.
-  engage in repeated irresponsible behavior.

The end product of the “Dealing With Discipline Problems” video course is your own, personalized plan designed not only to solve discipline problems but also to help students take charge of their own behavior and become more responsible, successful students.
